Travel

Latvia is part of the border-free Schengen Area, which guarantees free movement to more than 400 million EU citizens, including non-EU nationals. This makes moving around Europe easy, whether for work, study, or other similar purposes.

Riga is easily accessible via the best-connected airport of the Baltic states.

From Europe, you can fly from the most popular European hubs like London, Paris, or Frankfurt via carriers such as British Airways, Air France, or Lufthansa to Riga. You can also choose airBaltic – the leading airline in the Baltics with more than 70 destinations across Europe and Middle East, or low-cost options like Wizzair and Ryanair, which often offer direct flights from major cities around Europe.

You can enter Latvia by ferry through maritime ports or by car, bus or train through land borders too.

From Riga Airport the direct bus No. 22 reaches the city center in 33 minutes. Inside Riga, public transport is accessible at almost every corner. A ticket for 90 minutes costs 1.50 € /. Ticket you can buy in Narvesen shops.
